

Council for Wisconsin Writers

promoting Wisconsin's literary heritage since 1964

Membership/Support Application. CWW invites you to join a community of writers, poets, educators, and others dedicated to recognizing outstanding work by Wisconsin writers, and enhancing public awareness of our great literary heritage. We sponsor an array of annual contests, culminating in an awards banquet honoring the winners. Our website, the blog, the banquet and other activities bring literary professionals together. We meet, mingle, and inspire each other.

Support for The Council for Wisconsin Writers' activities. The Council is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization operated by volunteers and made strong by committed, active members. We receive no public funding, relying on private contributions and member donations to carry out our mission. Show your pride in Wisconsin's literary arts by joining us. You don't have to be a writer to become a member, and you may also make a gift or bequest to our Endowment Fund or to an award category. Our activities offer literary professionals from around the state an opportunity to meet, mingle, and work together in pursuit of common goals. Other benefits of membership include:

- ☐ one free contest entry per contest year
- ☐ member pricing for Awards Banquet ticket
